

Stan Meserve

Driver/Official/Builder

Stan Meserve's forty-plus year involvement in racing has taken him from Unity Raceway to the high-banks of Daytona International Speedway back to the short tracks of Maine, New England and Canada and a return trip to NASCAR's premier series – Nextel Cup. A racing career that began in 1965 at Unity, found Stan running the full NASCAR Grand National Division schedule in 1968 in an under-funded 1967 Dodge Charger. Stan entered 31 of the 49 races and placed 26th in the final Grand National Division point standings. Stan founded Distance Racing Products in 1983, fabricating race cars and selling parts to drivers all over the northeast. He retired from driving shortly thereafter to become the Technical Director for the ACT Tour. Ten years later, Stan returned to driving full-time, finally retiring as a full-time driver in 1998. He is the only driver to win championships at four different Maine tracks – Unity, Speedway 95, Wiscasset Speedway and Oxford Plains Speedway. As to the number of race wins, Stan isn't sure. "It's a lot!" Stan is back "down south" – working at Dale Earnhardt Inc. and on occasion will strap on the racing helmet and compete in a Pro Stock race either here in Maine or at southern short track.
